Mrs. Asquith's failure to identify Jane Addams evoked some pointed remarks from the New York correspondent of the London Star, who says that "if Jane Addams had lived in England, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson would have known about her."

"Interviewed Mrs. Asquith has been delightful," he continues "Her view of the yellow press was that it must be read by the Chinese. Was Lloyd George as popular as ever? 'I wonder,' said Margot, with a smile through her eigarette smoke which, by the way, is criminal in Kansas

Of the audiences, the Star correspondent says that instead of read ng books for themselves they learn by ear. "The results must be shall low," he adds, "but, at least, it means that in a very real sense this whole nation never leaves school.
